

GROW YOUR OWN FOOD

Raising your own vegetables, fruit and herbs has to be one of the most satisfying activities food lovers can indulge in. It's not just people with time on their hands. A compact allotment plot is the most you'll need to begin enjoying your own organic crops.

High Demand for Allotment Plots

We are currently experiencing a high volume of applications for allotment plots. We recognise it is a major challenge to meet current demand with plots in short supply and an ever growing waiting list.

If you wish to submit an application our advice is to be patient for now and during the autumn we will contact all applicants with an update to let you know how your application is progressing.
